FARM LOANS ON RURAL CREDIT PLAN

For many years the German people have been borrowing money on the rural credit plan. Under this plan the borrower pays a definite amount every year, part of this sum being applied to interest and the balance on account of his indebtedness.

The American farmers have been calling for a similar kind of loan for some years past and recently The Union Central Life Insurance Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, a Company which has loaned over 75 million dollars to farmers in 34 different states, has begun to make loans on this amortized, or rural credit plan.

If this plan had been put into operation in the early nineties, many of our farmers who are now struggling under heavy mortgages, would be free from debt.
